Spice & Ginger
discovering food stories

A Scottish taste of new food discoveries

Come with me to Scotland!

If you're in search of a fairytale destination, Scotland is your dream come true. Whether you're exploring castle ruins on a history tour or losing yourself in the beauty of nature on a coastal walk, Scotland promises enchanting experiences.

Reliving this memorable journey through my blog's travel logs, culinary discoveries, and savory recipes has been an absolute joy. Come along with me on this mesmerizing Scottish adventure!

Recipes

We didn't leave Scotland empty handed, but returned with a handful of delicious recipes for you to enjoy at home. Try out my langoustine wrap or crab salad for lunch, and surprise your guests with sea bream or delicious Scotch pancakes!

Scotch pancakes with red berries

Scotch pancakes are the perfect weekend breakfast for the whole family. You have them ready in no time and you can serve them with your favorite topping: honey, a dollop of clotted cream, berries...

Scotch pancakes

Wraps with langoustines, grapefruit, avocado and spicy whisky dressing

Wraps can be stuffed with almost anything and are ready in no time. They are the perfect quick lunch or light bite on-the-go. Make your own with my new recipe!

Wraps with langoustines

Salad with brown crab, avocado and mango

Fresh brown crab is a real treat! With my tips and a bit of patience, extracting the succulent crab meat from the legs is a breeze. It's perfect for a crab, avocado, and mango salad!

Salad with brown crab

Sea bream with fennel, a winning combo

Fennel is a vegetable that can be served with many things, but its combination with fish is a treat. Find out how to prepare this restaurant-worthy dish in no time!

Sea bream with fennel

Travel articles

With over 30,000 lochs, 125,000 km of streams and rivers, and 18,000 km of coastline, including 800+ islands, Scotland is a treasure trove of nature and seafood. Discover the Kintyre Peninsula and the best seafood restaurants in Scotland!

A drive around the Kintyre Peninsula

The Kintyre Peninsula is a natural beauty worth including in your itinerary. Kintyre offers an escape from the busy world, allowing you to connect with nature.

Take a drive around Kintyre

The ocean on your plate

Scotland's thriving fishing industry brings fresh seafood daily from the Atlantic Ocean, North Sea, and Irish Sea, providing numerous eateries with the freshest catch. Join me on a quest for Scotland's finest seafood!

Taste the Scotch seafood

Stay up to date!

Go check out all of our travel and food stories on the brand new website, or follow Spice&Ginger on social media.

Good travels!

Check out Spice&Ginger

Spice & Ginger

Spice&Ginger
Recipes and blogs by Elkie Van Beveraluys
Photography by Didier Pattyn

You are receiving this mail because you came in contact with us through our previous projects.

Unsubscribe